LEADERSHIP LESSONS
From the Kitchen Table
How to lead a district through a crisis

1. Don't go it alone.
2. Get all hands on deck.
3. Remember your duty of care to others.
4. Confront the pandemic within the pandemic: racism.
5. Convince people that crises require money.
6. Acknowledge there is no playbook.
7. Give every student a connection.
8. Don't lose sight of mental health.
9. Communicate with purpose.
10. Don't let the crisis go to waste.
11. Rely on your local peers.
13. Communicate with your staff first.
14. Find your common mission.
15. Articulate your priorities.
16. Get your act together before there's a crisis.
17. Find hope in the worst of times.

To explore each lesson, read the full series of opinion essays investigating leadership during the pandemic, produced in partnership with the National Superintendents Roundtable: edw.link/LeadershipLessons

Coverage of leadership, summer learning, social and emotional learning, arts learning, and afterschool is supported in part by a grant from The Wallace Foundation, at www.wallacefoundation.org. Education Week retains sole editorial control over the content of this coverage.